Patterns aplenty for market

RUG COMPANIES ARE COMING to High Point Market with an outlook that is rosy — and many other bright and cheerful colors.

The bright new batch of rugs debuting during market is a reflection of suppliers' expectations for business this season and beyond.

"High Point is always our best market. It always has been, for the past 13 years since we started showing there," said Satya Tiwari, president of Surya. "It's where we see all of our key furniture customers, designer customers and e-commerce customers. And this market is going to be big for us."

To its 26,000-square-foot showroom at Showplace 4100, Surya is bringing a record 400 new products. In the rugs category, the company is showing 15 new machine-made, hand-tufted and handcrafted rugs as well as extensions to more than 20 existing collections, including 50 new outdoor-safe designs.

Upscale area rug house Obeetee is making its High Point Market debut this month with a booth, T-464, in The Rug Show section at Suites at Market Square.

The Rug Show is a nonprofit industry association comprised of producers, importers and wholesalers who work together to promote and expand the rug industry. It participates seasonally with its rug company members in both High Point Market and NY Now.

"Our decision to show at High Point is because we can be a part of The Rug Show," said Gretchen Auer, sales manager, Obeetee. "We heard some great feedback from the first show this past October, and we are hoping this spring will be a success."

Nourison is bringing back its designer-centric Portfolio program with a fresh batch of looks from a new and select group of established interior designers: Shay Geyer, Catherine and Justine Macfee, Jaime Rummerfield and Ron Woodson, Kim Scodro, and Scot Meacham Wood. The company will host a special presentation of the new lines at its showroom, IHFC IH101.

Momeni is marking its 43rd anniversary. The family-run company is presenting a new logo and area rug collections from its new, larger space in IHFC H345.

Jaipur Living is launching two capsule collections — one with fabric company Pollack and the other with art creatives Zoe Bios. The Scribe Collection by Pollack is "a study of beauty found in nature, an exploration of organic and unique patterns," the company said. The rugs are hand-knotted of wool, viscose and cotton.

Jaipur's Wabi Sabi Collection features "the artistic and globally connected eye" of Zoe Bios Creative. The rugs are Tibetan hand-knots in wool with viscose. Jaipur Living shows in Showplace 3300.

Rizzy Home is launching a licensed program that represents a different direction for the company. Designed to offer smarter merchandising solutions and improved service to its furniture retail customers, the Connie Post by Rizzy Home Collection comprises 12 hand-tufted and multi-dimensional wool rugs. Post, a retail design strategist, drafted the collection's bright, watercolor-like patterns. Rizzy Home shows in Showplace 3515.

From its space in IHFC D320, Loloi is bringing "a full deck of cards" to High Point Market. "There is so much innovation, so much newness going on in a big way in hand-knits, hand-tufted, machine-mades and printed rugs," said principal Amir Loloi. "We're hoping for the best market. We expect a very strong turnout." ■

NOMADIC PASSAGE

Urbane meets exotic in this carefully cultivated scenario. Look for highly sculptural pieces, artisanal craftsmanship and international influences to blend seamlessly in curated alignment.

BY TRACY BULLA

The Kenneth Cobonpue Pigalle chair boasts sensual curves, crafted with woven abaca knotted onto a hand-sculpted steel frame.

Inspired by far-flung travels, these sculptural replica artifacts add an element of the exotic to interiors from Atelier C&S Décor by Schwung Home.

Made from stone, the striking Face tower pedestal from Phillips Collection combines both stature and craftsmanship at once.

Wildwood's iconic Trilogy lamp makes a bold statement in ruby glazed ceramic, finished with antique trim and mounting.

Surya's hand-woven cotton wall hanging features a semi-circle pattern with distinctly optical flair.

The exquisitely spare Vaeske table, an original work from Enkle Designs, infuses a sublime tribal aesthetic.

Triangular emblems in a repeating motif bestow stylized graphic appeal onto House of Cindy's Mud Cloth pillow ($225).

Safavieh's Kenya rug comprises an artful tribal complexion with native motifs and thick, over-stitched cut pile yarns ($1,620, 6x9).

Ornate patterning rims Uma's iron vase, accentuated with a subtle hammered texture.

MARKET NEWS

High Point Market adds two new programs

THE HIGH POINT MARKET AUTHORITY is debuting six days of programming and events at "The Point," a space on Commerce Avenue one block from the Transportation Terminal (between Wrenn and Main streets).

Programming includes roundtable discussions, an interactive demonstration area, celebrity meet and greets, a social media connection area and an afternoon social hour with various partner groups. The space will also host a Parson's Table pop-up each day for lunch, celebrating the 40th anniversary of the popular market staple, and offer an organic juice bar and gourmet coffee bar each morning. A team of market advisors will be on-site to answer market-related questions and assist guests.

"Our tagline for The Point is 'Learn, Grow, Connect,' and that's exactly what this space is designed to do," said Tom Conley, president and CEO, High Point Market Authority. "We are here to help this industry learn and connect so business can grow and prosper, thus we are incredibly excited to offer these services and programs at The Point to further and help achieve these goals."

On Monday, April 16, from 4 to 7 p.m., a special gathering called "Third Night: A Progressive Gala" will debut in the Hamilton Wrenn Design District, on Hamilton and Wrenn streets between Martin Luther King Jr. Drive and East Ray Avenue. The evening will offer live street entertainment and musicians throughout the district along with a variety of special menus, themed parties and influencer interactions in participating showrooms.

"With 57 exhibitors already confirmed to participate, Third Night is going to be a spectacular event," said Chelsea House's Pam Cain, director of the Hamilton Wrenn Design District Association. "We are excited to celebrate spring market with special food, drink, entertainment and giveaways; it's yet another reason that High Point Market is the place to be!"

"We are thrilled to participate, and have already lined up well-known designer Barry Dixon, who has designed some incredible pieces for us, to join us in our showroom that evening," said Rod Lambeth, president and CEO of The Tomlinson Companies, located on the north end of the District. ■

Adriana Hoyos launches Rumba

ADRIANA HOYOS FURNISHINGS IS launching Rumba, a whole-home furnishings collection, in High Point this month.

Following a successful re-entry into the U.S. market last October, the Adriana Hoyos brand returns to High Point Market, targeting high-end dealers and interior designers with new products from Rumba, which includes upholstered seating and case goods. Bedroom furnishings will be added this fall.

Inspired by resort living and a modern tropical aesthetic, a natural wood finish is featured throughout the new offering. Upholstery fabric options include a rich blend of vibrant colors, textures and versatile patterns.

"The Rumba Collection reflects on a luxury resort experience with sophisticated, timeless designs and Latin-American flair," said Adriana Hoyos, brand founder and chief designer. "We are inspired by the musical characteristics of the Rumba, from the action of the marimba and drums, to the rhythmic flow of the dancers' dresses." ■

New tenants at home in Showplace

SHOWPLACE WILL FEATURE SEVERAL new tenants and expanded showrooms at the Spring High Point Market.

More than 80 exhibitors have new products in Showplace, offering a variety of design aesthetics and price points. Several companies are making their Showplace debut including Art Carpet, Bombay Company, Capris Furniture, Tov Furniture and Three Birds Casual.

"Showplace is a key destination for top retailers, designers and buyers looking for diverse resources," said Julie Messner, senior vice president for furniture and home décor leasing. "Our newest exhibitors join an impressive list of showrooms that includes American Leather, Couristan, Dimplex, Four Hands, Furniture Classics, Jaipur Living, Rowe, Simon Li, Sunpan Modern Home and Surya."

In addition, relocations and expansions include: The Bramble Co., Capris Furniture, CDI International and GTR Leather.

Buyers can also enjoy complimentary refreshments at Showplace, sponsored by IMC-DesignOnHPMkt, including a buyer's breakfast, 8:30-9:30 a.m. Saturday through Wednesday in the Showplace Atrium, and Sunset on 3, 5-7 p.m. Saturday through Tuesday on the 3rd Floor Balcony, with beer, wine and hors d'oeuvres. ■

Salon showcases cutting-edge design

SALON, ON THE GROUND FLOOR OF the Suites at Market Square, will welcome several new exhibitors at this month's High Point Market.

"A key to success in the home furnishings industry is innovation," said Julie Messner, senior vice president of furniture and home décor leasing for International Market Centers. "Salon is a must-see destination for any buyer looking for cutting-edge product resources that will create excitement on retail floors and in design studios."

Ercle Home offers high-end artisanal furniture and new products from Italy. Pampas Leather will be showing its rugs, chairs and pillows in cowhide, sheepskin and goatskin, and leather furniture and headboards. The Pictorialist is a one-stop shop that offers custom, framed artwork via a curated image bank.

Three collections in one space—R&Y Augousti Paris, Kifu Paris and Patrick Coard Paris—are named after founding family members and represent a trio of artisanal collections, reflecting handmade techniques of eras past. KIFU Paris is a collection of home accessories and furniture that features handmade techniques of elaborate inlay patterns. Patrick Coard Paris is a collection of candles in a shagreen texture, hand-carved patterns and sculptural shapes, inspired by sculptors from the '30s and '40s. R&Y Augousti will showcase pieces from the line normally seen only in Paris, Italy and New York, along with new furniture and accessories.

Salon opens for early shopping on Friday, April 13, from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. ■
