MORSE CODE

Imprecise and a bit whimsical, dots and dashes are making a bold style statement, especially showcasing black against a white background. Mirroring a strong trend in fashion, this look is “spot on” in home settings as well.

RETRO REDUX

Fun and funky, '70s-inspired styles are bringing groovy fun to interiors. The colors, the lines, the patterns and the vibe represent the next iteration of mid-century modern, creating an overall style that feels slightly familiar and nostalgic, but simultaneously current and fresh.

GIVE ME GINGHAM

A style direction in their own right, gingham and buffalo plaid (especially black and white) also function nicely as a ground for other colors and patterns, making them ideal for use in home spaces. Slightly quaint without being sweet, the ginghams of today are surprisingly timeless and versatile and are bridging into the plaids that are upcoming on the trend scene.

STAINED GLASS

Colored glass and acrylic take the stage, effectively offering softer hints of color in unexpected places. Seaglass-inspired shades are prominent, but the medium is adaptable to a range of hues and concentrations.
