

JULY 2019

Home Textiles Today

NOBODY KNOWS THE INDUSTRY BETTER

WASTE NOT

Retailers and suppliers look to more sustainable packaging

Rug & Roll

Rug companies are rolling out new area rugs in a range of on-trend looks and innovative constructions for the summer market season.

International Market Centers (IMC) leases showroom space to hundreds of rug resources in Las Vegas at the World Market Center and Atlanta's AmericasMart as well as High Point Market.

IMC will host the Atlanta International Area Rug Market from July 10-14 and Las Vegas Market July 28 to Aug 1.

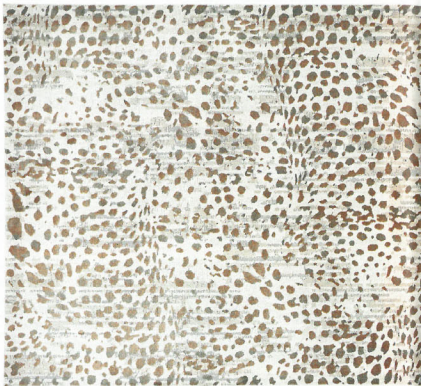

Natco Home/Central Oriental continues to expand its Trisha Yearwood program with the Refresh collection of soft, thick-pile rugs made of polypropylene. Las Vegas World Market Center: A-452

Surya Inc.'s hand-woven Adia collection pairs neutrals with dusty brights in patterns across coastal, cottage, rustic and bohemian themes. Atlanta AmericasMart: II-A-1, BI Couristan's Pasha collection is machine-woven on a polyester base. It depicts digitally printed Old World-inspired designs in updated colors. Las Vegas World Market Center: B-360

The Waldor collection by Feizy is designed with a delicate and versatile neutral palette and subtle sheen achieved via high-low finishes. The collection is powerloomed of a polypropylene blend. Las Vegas World Market Center: C-180

United Weavers of America's Tranquility collection is a modern grouping of geometric patterns and modish colors interpreted on a machine-woven construction of microfiber polyester and jute. Las Vegas World Market Center: A-409